Foreword

As an inspiration to all students of Flora Macdonald College and particularly to the Seniors we offer five famous American women whose careers may well serve as examples for the young women of America to follow. These women represent several fields of achievement, not the teacher or nurse, but professions just as great. Some are a little new for women, perhaps, but a woman's work nevertheless.

As time marches on and hopes, ambitions and wishes are fulfilled, may we look back on the 1938 WHITE HEATHER and see that the ideals and high standards of these modern, successful women, played an important part in winning our own goals.

THE COLLEGE

Dorothy Thompson

Miss Thompson through her dramatic journalistic writings of the world's chaotic events has not only become a famous international figure, but has proved beyond a doubt that woman's place in the journalistic field is no longer limited to the page dedicated to her. The newspaper world is open to all clear thinking, intelligent, capable women.

CLASSES

Amelia Earhart

Amelia Earhart opened the field of aviation to American women. But she did more than that. She awakened us to the fact that science, all branches of it, is not a man's pursuit alone, but an ideal one for alert, educated, scientifically-minded women. May the memory of her active short life serve as an inspiration to guide American women forward in the world of scientific endeavor.

JESSIE ALLEN, A.B.

Ellerbe, N. C.

E.X.

William Bartram Scientific Society, '35; William Bartram Scientific Society, '36; William Bartram Scientific Society, '37; Tennis Club, William Bartram Scientific Society, '38.

Jessie is a most surprising person. She is possessed of real wit which, though it seldom shows itself, leaves you gasping when it does. She is reserved but she is also wholehearted and genuine. Because of these qualities and because she pursues whatever is at hand diligently and thoroughly, we know that Jessie will make a success of anything she attempts.

MARY HELEN ALLEN, A.B.

Soccer Team, '35; Hockey Team, Secretary Sunday School Class, '36; Soccer Team, '37; Hockey Team, Soccer Team, Baseball Team, '38.

Many of us do not know the true side of Mary Helen. If we ventured under that quiet, shy covering we find she is as funloving as any of us. Her peaches and cream complexion and wholesome beauty are the envy of us all. Neat? Definitely. We see it every day in her appearance. With her easygoing disposition she ought to sail smoothly through life.

Martha is perhaps considered a little distant by those who do not know her, but many of us know differently. She has to acclimate herself before her true nature comes out from behind that shy, quiet, peaceful covering. Remember those goals she made for the senior hockey team? Our record couldn't have been the same without her.

VERA ELLEN BENNETT, A.B.

South Carolina Club, Hockey Team, '35; South Carolina Club, '36; South Carolina Club, '37; South Carolina Club, '38.

Beneath the quiet exterior which Vera presents to those who are not privileged to know her, there lives a very attractive and interesting person. She is generous, kind-hearted and unassuming. She is a shark at Latin and French and "not bad" at history. Wherever she may go, she will make a place for herself through her diligence and steadfastness.

We admire Louise for being able to keep a conversation going in a crowd. Because there are few who can do so, it will be a great asset in life. Loyalty seems to be her middle name. Have you ever heard her sing the praises of a college, the summer session of which she attended? We will also remember her for her graceful dancing in May Day programs.

ANNE BOYD, A.B.

A true burner of the midnight oil, and extremely dependable. Her winning smile and friendly disposition are something to be desired. Nothing ever seems to bother her. She calmly goes about doing what must be done without any apparent worry. She will get there.

Those of us who have been stumped with a math problem, know just the extent of her patience. She would make a valuable teacher, for hers is the art of being able to explain to others facts which she herself understands. Have you ever seen her yelling for the Seniors at a game? Of lovable Baby it may truly be said:

"To know her is to love her."

Style? Yes. Personality? Decidedly. And, although she does not lavish affections, she is a fine friend. Well-rounded Pat is one of those girls that it is just plain fun to be with. She is a splendid athlete; she won't be seared out of her wits if you mention Bach, for she is musical; and who hasn't enjoyed her articles in the Pine and Thistle? If you really want to enjoy her wit, you must sit beside her on class and catch one of her "asides" which she gives in her own spontaneous way.

A cute, dainty, graceful little senior is Annie Ruth. She is happy-go-lucky and a jolly good sport. Have you ever noticed her smile? It's one of those kinds that make you feel good long after she has gone on her way. Our only regret is that she couldn't live right in with us, so we could know her still better.

Julia very quietly walked in and did her work while the rest of us sat back and fussed about ours. She does things so quietly and carefully that we gape. Her hobby seems to be divided between lovely handwork and matching stripes, both of which she does beautifully. In her well ordered life everything seems to be planned carefully, and executed without a hitch.

Jane we will always think of because of her ability to change some scrap of material, by a few snips of her scissors, into a chic hat, or cunning pocket-book. Her interests in fashion and design have made us all clothes conscious. Remember her articles in the Pine and Thistle about such matters? She loves to argue, but in the interest of the loser. Sweet and demure. Her calm diminutive beauty and her lovely disposition make Jeannette the type of girl we all like to be around. As vice president of our class, she has played a most important role in college life, but we will always remember her as the little girl with the attractive eyes and the velvety laughter.

Day Students Club, '35; Day Students Club, '36; Basketball Team, Hockey Team, '37; Hockey Team, President Day Students, Student Council, '38.

Mary Frances' reserve, graciousness and perfect manners add much toward making her a true Southern personality and in giving her an essential charm of her own. She manages to round out her extra-curricular activities by acting as President of the Day Students, by dancing for us on May Day and by playing hockey. A well-rounded Day Student, we'd say.

Janie may not make a big fuss about her work, but she surely accomplishes wonders. "They" say her math teaching is a joy to behold. She is the prim demure miss of our class. She has a shy, sweet smile, but behind that face is a cool mathematical mind that brought her the honor of President of the Math Club.

Mary Ellen is our class treasurer and that is tribute enough, for it proves she is capable and efficient. She is the kind of girl you like to have around, helpful and always good natured. She was one of the busy Seniors who found time to play basketball. Her guarding was quick and exact, the kind of play you enjoy watching.

Good luck to you, Betty.

She will go far, just as she has here, and we will be glad to say "we knew her when." Capable, good-natured, Ginny. She manages to make herself at home wherever she goes. Perhaps that accounts for the way she has come to take her place among us during our last two years. As a member of our hockey team, she has loyally supported us; as a classmate she has been gay and witty; and as vice president of the Christian Association she has shown us her ability as a leader and speaker. Her quiet, patient way is a help when we merrily dash into the library and then become angry because the exact book we want is not waiting for us. Miss Sample will miss her, we know. Edna St. Vincent Millay

Down through the ages have come the writings of great poets, few have been women. However, the ancients had Sappho, the last century had Elizabeth Barrett Browning and we have Edna St. Vincent Millay. With her thoroughly modern American writing she has definitely established herself among the ranks of the famous.

Chief Scribe

Each year five girls are chosen from the Senior class and with the editor acting as Chief Scribe, they write up the sketches of each Senior. The write-ups are as representative as possible, so that they along with the pictures will help to bring back memories in the years to come.

This year more than ever before the WHITE HEATHER has been a Student Body publication rather than a staff one. Wherever possible the students have had an opportunity to voice their opinions. Since everyone agrees that the one and only way to show the true college spirit in an annual is through snap shots, we have featured them in large numbers. We have tried to make them representative, but when some subjects proved too camerashy, that was impossible.

Without a coöperative student body such as ours, this volume would not have been possible. The last wish of the staff is that you may look back in years to come and review happy college days by turning the pages of this book, looking at the pictures and reading a brief descriptive word.

It has been the desire of the Pine and Thistle staff this year to make the magazine more interesting to more girls. First, we have sponsored contests for certain types of writings. Second, we have tried to include in our magazine the material which would interest everyone. Third, we have attempted to print articles that are not merely pleasing for the moment, but which will bring back pleasant memories of happy college experiences. We have dedicated each issue to one of the classes and have used the class colors for the cover of the magazine. We hope that in each issue there has been something of interest for the members of the class to whom it was dedicated.

WILLIAM BARTRAM SCIENTIFIC SOCIETY

The purpose of this society is to increase interest in scientific knowledge through study and discussion subjects chosen by the society; and to promote fellowship among serious-minded students of science. The study of insects, which was chosen this year, proved extremely interesting. Membership in this society depends upon a scholastic standing in mathematics or science.

Business and pleasure have been combined in the meetings of this organization which binds together all business students. Skits typifying the work of the ideal secretary and hints from well-known business men were helpful. Through these meetings and the work of the year, these young women have been prepared to take their places in the business world.

The purpose of the Home Economics Club is to allow all girls majoring in that subject to exert their ability to use the knowledge gained from the course in a practical way. ST. CECILIA MUSIC CLUB

ELEANOR SIGG, President

The Saint Cecilia Music Club is of comparatively recent origin. A member of the National Federation of Music Clubs, it was organized and federated only last year. In spite of its youth, this organization has proven itself an active and vital part of the Conservatory, under whose auspices it functions. Valuable contributions have been made to the equipment of the Music Department: last year in the form of a beautiful electric victrola, this year in splendid albums of operatic recordings. The programs have been entertaining and educational, always upholding the high standards of our school of music.

MADRIGAL CLUB

One of the best known and the best loved organizations in college is the Madrigal Club. Besides the genial fellowship the members enjoy with each other and with Mrs. Williamson, the director, there are the social and church functions at which they sing. During the year the group led in several events at the college, the singing in the White Gift service and the Dome service, and the hymns and processional at Commencement. During the spring they made trips to neighboring towns where they received high praise for their fine renditions.

ATHLETICS

Helen Hayes

Helen Hayes has been endowed with grace, beauty and dramatic ability. These gifts she has used to bring back from the pages of history the queenly character of Victoria. With this role as well as many other fine ones, she has blotted out the old belief that the theater is not the place for a woman; but she has used it, along with the more modern motion pictures and radio to bring pleasure to all the world.

Mattie Pharr
President

ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION

"The purpose of the Flora Macdonald Athletic Association is to uphold and carry out the highest ideals of good sportsmanship, to foster a spirit of genuine service to the school and to offer to all the opportunity for participating in all athletics." Through the Association and its work there is an opportunity for the development of each student physically, for the development of loyalty and cooperation within the classes, and for the development of a spirit of keen but clean rivalry between classes which culminates in the tournaments—the red letter days of the year on the athletic calendar.

HEADS OF SPORTS

Much of the success of the athletic program for the year '37-'38 was due to the efforts of these four heads of sports.

Bewildered Freshmen who couldn't fit practices into their schedules went to Alice Gordon Geekie and a solution was promptly found. Sophomores, Juniors and Seniors placed their practice and rule worries on her shoulders and she always straightened out the most complicated tangles. To her belongs the credit for a major part of the success and smoothness of the hockey tournament.

After proving her ability as a basketball player on last year's team, Irene Smith was chosen to head that sport this year. She helped to mold the material offered her by each class into fine playing teams. The success of her work was seen in the fast and furious playing during the tournament. Basketball this year, as always before, held its place on the list of activities most favored by most girls.

With the enthusiastic backing of many girls who expressed a desire for volleyball, this new game was officially enrolled as a major sport warranting a head. Virginia O'Berry was chosen, and it was her interest and effort which made it the popular activity that it was.

Rachel Herring made a splendid strive toward regaining the high place which soccer and baseball once had on our sports list. She reorganized the small teams into good playing units and for the first time in several years, games were actually played.

SENIOR HOCKEY TEAM

Senior...3	Freshman	2
Senior...5	Sophomore	2
Senior...2	Junior	2

Due to their remarkable past record of scoring on upperclassmen, much was expected of the Seniors. This team has always offered fast, clean, sportsmanlike playing. Having a strong, reliable back field, which simply would not give in, and a small-sized forward line, which offered intense, fast playing, opponents were made to fight for every score. Under the guidance of Gladys Smith, the captain, who had the coöperation and loyalty of the whole class, this team divided honors with the Juniors for the title of champion, thus settling the old score in harmony.

GLADYS SMITH, Captain

JUNIOR HOCKEY TEAM

Junior...2	Senior 2

The team put out by the Juniors this year was noteworthy in several respects. It promised trouble and hard competition—and gave it. As a result the tournament ended, for the first time since hockey has been played on this campus, in a tie. Lena most effectively combined the talents of her heavy-hitting backfield with the swift forward line which seemed to know all the tricks of getting the ball into "enemy" territory.

LENA THOMPSON, Captain

Sophomore	4	Freshman	1
Sophomore	2	Junior	0
Sophomore	1	Junior	2

Under the guiding hand of Betty, who believes in cool, clear, scientific playing, the Wildcats upset the whole tournament. The smallness of the players was inconvenient to the team, but it did not daunt the courage or fine playing of Dot Brooks, Flora Belle McLean, Dot Tice or Evon Eldridge. The splendid backing this team received from its class did much to influence the fine games played.

Betty Yates
Captain

BUNNY TONTZ
Captain

FRESHMAN HOCKEY TEAM

Freshman	1	Sophomore	4
Freshman	2	Senior	3

As a usual thing the Freshmen come out "en masse" for hockey and then the number dwindles away. It was not so this year. "En masse" they came and "en masse" they remained. The enthusiasm of their class was never at a low ebb and they managed to show the college a new thing or two in the way of class spirit. The team presented for play was one not to be ignored. They dribbled and passed like veterans. Given time to become more familiar with the game, the Roosters will develop into a team unbeatable.

SENIOR BASKETBALL

Basketball proved a very popular sport with the Seniors this season. They played with a lively enthusiasm which defied quenching. Particularly the extraordinary work of the guards needs commending. Few were the foes who were able to dodge them. Also the deadly aim of the forwards, who made every shot count, was a joy to behold.

Although they did not win the championship, the Seniors helped to add pep to the tournament.

PATRICIA COMBS
Captain

JUNIOR BASKETBALL

As in hockey, so in basketball did the Juniors prove hard and dangerous rivals to overcome. Their game was clean and clear. The guards proved to be good shadowers, few were the goals shot over their heads. The uncanny aiming which culminated in baskets every time, was and still is a mystery to those who played against this team.

Like the Seniors, they too went down to defeat at the hands of the Freshmen.

PENIA HAYES NICHOLS
Captain

SOPHOMORE BASKETBALL

The good record which the Sophomores made last year was not allowed to tarnish through lack of hard practice and fine play. The competition they offered was keen and splendid. They fought with a determined spirit and were stubborn in giving away chances for their opponents to score. The guards were tall enough to effectively dampen the scoring ability of the best forwards, and the forwards—were very quick and accurate. Sophomores, your game is splendid and fine. Keep it so and in '40 your team will be covered with stars.

DOLORES HUNSUCKER

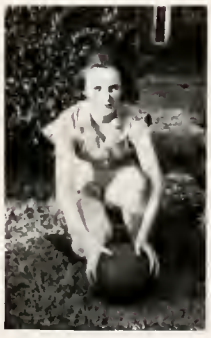
FRESHMAN BASKETBALL

Basketball was equally as popular with the Freshmen as was hockey. Since they proved so able to coördinate themselves in hockey, much was expected from them. Their playing was always rapid. The ball seemed to possess an affinity for the basket when sent by one of their forwards. The way the guards carried the ball down the side-line in fast play was especially commendable. We all know now that the Freshmen have what it takes to succeed.



MARGARET CROMARTIE
Captain

TENNIS

Many girls chose tennis as a major sport for this year. Their choice was a good one since tennis is the ideal sport adapting itself to year-round popularity. This is proven by the fact that on practically all suitable days girls can be found playing stimulating sets. Although time could not be found during the spring to devote to the playing of an entire tournament, disputed matches were played between the tennis classes.

ARCHERY

One has only to watch the girls who go out for archery to realize that Miss Bateman has instilled in them something of her own fine form and enthusiasm for the sport. Even after a short time our targets were thoroughly punctured with holes showing that form is not all that the girls have.

Archery is a fine sport in many ways. We are told that it is especially fine figuratively speaking. The number of enthusiasts has increased greatly in the last year—proving the increasing popularity of the sport.

FEATURES

Anne Lindbergh

Perhaps after all, woman's greatest career is exemplified by Anne Lindbergh. Because of her husband's interest in aviation, she placed her interest there. With strength and valor she makes her way by his side, encouraging, advising and helping in her own valuable way. Yet with it all she has not lost contact with the simpler things of life. As a modern home maker she is famous. She finds time to continue with her literary work, having published since her marriage several poems and a delightful volume of prose.

MAY DAY

With the dancing of the characteristic Highland Fling and the crowning of the lovely Queen another May Festival was celebrated in front of the stately white columns. La Fête de Jardinier proved to be a delightful theme about which the pageant was woven. Once upon a time there lived a gardener who lovingly cared for his beautiful flowers. He invited the peasants to view his garden and the happy people danced until a storm broke up their merriment. After they left, the gardener fell asleep. Every colorful bloom came to life and danced. The Queen of the Flowers entered and amid the gay dancing crowned the gardener King of the flowers. Later the gardener awoke to find that he had on his old clothes, that the roses were in their places and that everything was as it had always been. He realized his being King of the Flowers was only a dream.

• There is a close relationship between the athlete's physical perfection and his diet. The Olympic Stars at Los Angeles in 1932 averaged one serving of Ice Cream each day . . . or five times as much as the average American.

• Be sure to include plenty of Southern Dairies Ice Cream in your diet, for it is especially rich in the food elements that build healthy bodies.

BUILDERS
DREAMS
VISIONS created by the imagination precede the achievement of any really great accomplishment. The ability to weave the threads of imagination into the finished fabric is equally important.
It has been the privilege of the EDWARDS & BROUGHTON COMPANY to co-operate with the staff in creating their vision into material form.
Such coöperation is one of the "visions" which precede the building of a successful business, and is a part of the working policy of the EDWARDS & BROUGHTON COMPANY.
To those Staffs desiring complete co-operation, we offer unexcelled service.
You, too, may be proud of your annual.
